

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I	INTRODUCTION.....	1
1	Background.....	1
2	Aims and objectives.....	1
3	Methodology.....	2
4	Structure of the thesis.....	2
II	ROCK ART – AN APPROACH TO ITS MATERIAL CULTURE.....	3
1	Introduction.....	4
2	State of the art.....	4
3	World distribution.....	5
4	Dating.....	7
5	Categorisation.....	7
5.1	Morphology.....	9
5.2	Economy.....	10
5.3	Motifs.....	10
5.4	Technique.....	10
5.5	Position.....	10
6	The interpretation of rock art.....	11
6.1	Topics.....	11
6.2	Academic approaches.....	13
6.2.1	History of rock art research.....	13
6.2.2	Methods of rock art interpretation.....	14
6.2.3	Schools of thought.....	15
6.3	Interpretation results.....	16
6.4	Contemporary myths and beliefs.....	20
7	Summary: State of research.....	22
III	ROCK ART AND THE WORLD HERITAGE CONCEPT.....	23
1	Introduction.....	23
2	The UNESCO World Heritage concept.....	24
2.1	Basic concepts.....	25
2.2	Evaluation of heritage.....	25
2.2.1	The outstanding universal value.....	25
2.2.2	Assessment of the outstanding universal value.....	25
2.2.2.a	Authenticity.....	26
2.2.2.b	Integrity.....	27
2.3	Nomination and inscription.....	27

2.4	Implementation of the World Heritage Convention.....	28
2.4.1	Procedure.....	28
2.4.2	Tools - dialogue and control.....	28
2.5	New approaches and shifts in paradigm.....	29
3	Rock art in the context of World Heritage nomination.....	32
3.1	State of conservation.....	32
3.1.1	Reasons for deterioration.....	32
3.1.2	Some remarks on rock art preservation.....	33
3.2	The nomination of rock art as World Heritage.....	35
3.2.1	Rock art – a “gap” on the List.....	35
3.2.2	Identification and evaluation of rock art.....	35
3.2.2.a	Current justifications for inscription.....	36
3.2.2.b	Accomplishments.....	37
3.2.3	International programmes related to rock art.....	37
4	Summary: Rock art in the context of World Heritage endeavour.....	39
IV	DEFINING SIGNIFICANCE.....	41
1	Introduction.....	41
2	Preserving the past – Basic concepts.....	42
2.1	Culture.....	42
2.2	Heritage and the past.....	42
2.3	Preservation in the light of history.....	43
3	Evaluating the past.....	44
3.1	Nominating heritage.....	44
3.2	Value.....	44
3.3	Knowledge.....	45
3.3.1	Knowledge and reason – from objectivity to subjectivity.....	45
3.3.2	Epistemology.....	46
3.4	Summary: Approaching heritage.....	48
4	Evaluating rock art.....	49
4.1	The problem - oriented approach.....	50
4.2	The subject/object – oriented approach.....	51
4.2.1	Continuity in time and space.....	51
4.2.2	Relationship.....	53
4.2.3	Primary approaches.....	54
4.2.4	Different concepts – space and place.....	55
4.3	Summary.....	55

5	Present situation – Nature, culture and society	56
5.1	Society and nature.....	56
5.1.1	Nature.....	56
5.1.2	Landscape.....	56
5.1.3	The European discourse of nature.....	59
5.1.4	Summary.....	60
5.2	Society and heritage.....	60
5.2.1	Modernisation and preservation.....	60
5.2.2	Heritage in-between institutionalisation and commodification.....	60
5.3	The problems behind.....	61
5.3.1	Decontextualisation.....	61
5.3.2	Passivity or the dominance of intellectual reason.....	64
5.3.3	Utilitarianism.....	65
6	Summary: The contemporary significance of rock art	65
V	CONCEPTUAL DISCUSSION OF THE WORLD HERITAGE APPROACH	67
1	Introduction	67
2	The global claim	67
3	Constraints and limitations of the World Heritage concept	68
3.1	The biased relationship.....	68
3.2	Ownership and definition.....	69
3.3	Inclusion and exclusion.....	69
3.4	The top-down approach.....	70
4	Summary	71
VI	CONCLUSION	73
VII	OUTLOOK	74
VIII	REFERENCES	75
IX	APPENDICES	95
	Acronyms and abbreviations.....	96
	Glossary.....	97
	Time scale.....	103
	Summary of international charters, conventions and declarations for the conservation of heritage assets relevant for the conservation and nomination of rock art.....	104